This is the opening post of Croquet Fan. Find out more about me and the purpose of this website at my About page.

The Internet is full of croquet information. For example, I just came across this YouTube posting on grips you can use on your croquet mallet. Sorry about the ad at the beginning, but it's not very long.

Whenever I find good stuff like this -- or when croquet fans like you tell me -- I will post on this website.

I'll put the video screen above the last paragraph. Yours can go wherever you want, but it should be between paragraphs. Click the Text tab; the embed code only goes there.

When you click back to visual, you get a yellow box, not the embed code or the video. You won't see that in the Edit Post/Edit Page window. Click Update to save.

The yellow box turned into a line of explanation. It's not code but leave the bracketed material totally alone, it is as fragile as code. Relax, click View Post -- it'll be great.
